Who is A-FAN?

The Alliance for the Future of Agriculture in Nebraska (A-FAN) was formed by leading agricultural membership groups in Nebraska—the Nebraska Cattlemen, Nebraska Corn Growers Association, Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, Nebraska Pork Producers Association, Nebraska Poultry Industries and Nebraska Soybean Association. These groups understand that livestock production is a critical component to Nebraska's future—providing vitality and opportunity for rural communities, adding value to Nebraska's agricultural output and energizing the economy of the entire state.

With the support of other membership groups, commodity organizations, and private business, A-FAN works with individual producers and communities across Nebraska to encourage the development of environmentally responsible and economically viable livestock production in the state.

Adding or expanding livestock on your operation?

A-FAN can help.

Livestock production is about opportunity.
A-FAN is about helping you make the most of it.

Livestock production offers tremendous opportunity for Nebraska producers. Opportunity for profit. Opportunity for the sons and daughters of farm and ranch families. Opportunity for new markets and value-added products.

There are challenges as well. Locating the operation in the best interests of neighbors and community. Meeting environmental regulations. Finding appropriate technologies for your facility.

That's why A-FAN was formed. A-FAN—the Alliance for the Future of Agriculture in Nebraska—works one-on-one with Nebraska farmers who want to add livestock production to their business—or expand an existing livestock operation. A-FAN promotes responsible livestock production as a way for farmers and the communities in which they live to increase their opportunities for greater prosperity.

A-FAN is your advocate and advisor—helping connect you with the right people, the right technologies and the right answers. A-FAN can help you navigate through regulatory compliance and chart a course that offers the best opportunity for success.

A-FAN also helps you share the message of the connection between livestock production and the economic success of your community.

Best of all, A-FAN provides its services at no charge to you. When you're ready to capitalize on the opportunities of livestock production, call A-FAN.

opportunity

The Alliance for the Future of Agriculture in Nebraska (A-FAN) works one-on-one with you to:

- Evaluate your proposed livestock project and make common sense recommendations on location, size and management practices to improve your prospects for success
- Assist you with answers to your questions on environmental regulatory compliance
- Connect you with experts on constructing a new livestock facility or expanding an existing facility
- Direct you to experts in manure management and odor control technologies
- Help you enhance relationships with neighbors, decision-makers and your community
- Help you prepare an effective strategy for working with local zoning officials and county board members
- Help enlist support for your project from affiliated groups such as other livestock producers, grain producers and community leaders
- Help you develop a game plan for successfully growing your business

one-on-one

get started

If you're considering starting or expanding a livestock operation, contacting A-FAN should be among your first steps. With A-FAN, you'll receive sound advice and insight—at no charge.

We'll provide you with information to help you think through some key considerations, actions and issues involved with your decision regarding livestock production. The A-FAN representative will ask some important questions—not only about your facility, but also about your community, your business and your plans for the future of your farm.

If we both agree that your project looks like a good fit with A-FAN, we'll help you get connected with the people and technologies that can make your project successful. We'll advise you on how best to communicate with neighbors, decision makers and the community regarding your facility and the value it can bring to your area. A-FAN can also provide guidance on regulatory compliance, permitting and local approvals.

Regardless of our level of involvement, all A-FAN services are provided to you at no charge.
